

Films on Demand provides nearly 30,000 high quality streaming videos in many subject areas including Business, Education, Health and Medicine, Literature, History, Humanities, Industrial trades, Social sciences, Math, Sciences, and Technology. The videos include instructional and vocational training videos, award-winning documentaries, interviews, historical speeches and newsreels, and music and dance performances.

The video collection is available to instructors and students through the Durham Tech library's online video resources [https://www.durhamtech.edu/dtcclibrary/onlinevideo.htm].

These videos can be viewed from anywhere on Durham Tech's campuses (via the college network or wifi). When off-campus, users will be prompted to enter their Durham Tech/Sakai user name and password to access the videos.

Instructors can search for videos with closed captioning, which provides a text version of the audio part of a video. Then instructors can embed or display Films on Demand videos in their Sakai sites. Or instructors can choose to put links to the videos in their Sakai sites.
